

President's Report – PSAC Nova Scotia Area Council 1

Greetings and Salutations Friends,

Since our last meeting, I've remained steadily engaged in our collective fight for fairness, respect, and livable compensation for all workers. My commitment to activism has kept me busy — and proud — as I've continued representing our members and standing in solidarity across the province.

Over the past couple of months, I've visited multiple picket lines and community actions, including those supporting our friends from Dalhousie Faculty Association, CUPW, and MSVU Faculty Association, among others. These actions continue to remind me of the strength and resilience of the labour movement and the importance of showing up for one another — rain, shine, or wind off the harbour.

I've also continued to engage with PSAC leaders and activists throughout the region, ensuring that Area Council 1 remains an active and collaborative voice in Atlantic solidarity efforts. Collaboration with the Human Rights Committee, Regional Women's Committee, and Young Workers Committee continues to be a major focus as we work together to strengthen communication, build unity, and coordinate collective actions across the region.

I will be in Ottawa on November 17–18 for PSAC Lobby Day on the Hill, where we'll be meeting with Members of Parliament to advocate on the issues that matter most to our members — including pay system reform, fair collective bargaining, and improvements to benefits and working conditions. Lobbying remains one of the most effective ways to bring our members' voices directly to decision-makers, and I'm proud to continue this work alongside other dedicated activists from across the country.

In closing, I want to thank each of you for your ongoing activism and support. The solidarity shown through our councils, committees, and locals will continue to drive progress and inspire new members to get involved. Together, we keep the momentum moving forward.

In solidarity,

Rob Silver
President, PSAC Nova Scotia Area Council 1
